Attachment A to License/Service Agreement

Academic Teaching License

1. Teaching Purposes. The Products subject to this teaching license may be used solely for teaching purposes. "Teaching purposes" means use of the Products for course instruction, course homework and student research required as part of a course, even if such student research may result in publication by the student of the paper submitted for course credit (Customer agrees to use reasonable efforts to provide Accelrys with copies of any such papers that reference use of the Products). For purposes of this Agreement, "course" means a University offered course or seminar with a specific course description and number and a reasonable classroom instruction component (i.e., not an "independent study" course or seminar). "Teaching purposes" does not include other research (independent or sponsored), even if such research would result in credit toward a degree.
2. Maintenance. Only Bronze Maintenance is included with the teaching license. Customer may include other Maintenance features for an additional fee. Hotline support is only offered to Customer via electronic mail communication. Customer agrees that its points of contact for Accelrys Maintenance of the Software subject to this teaching license will be limited to one designated employee of Customer at any one time, who will act as the support liaison between Accelrys and Customer.
3. Communication. Accelrys may, at its discretion, reference Customer, its instructor, professor, course, and/or the academic unit to whom the teaching license is granted in Accelrys marketing communications.
